Purpose of the Scouting America

It is the purpose of the Scouting America to provide for boys an effective program designed to build desirable qualities of character, to train in the responsibilities of participating leadership, and to develop in them personal fitness, thus to help in the development of American citizens who:

- Are physically, mentally and emotionally fit
- Have a high degree of self-reliance as evidenced in such qualities as initiative, courage and resourcefulness.
- Have personal and stable values firmly based on religious concepts.
- Have the desire and the skills to help others.
- Understand the principles of the American social, economic and governmental systems.
- Are knowledgeable about and take pride in their American heritage and understand America's role in the world.
- Have a keen respect for the basic rights of all people.
- Are prepared to fulfill the varied responsibilities of participating in and giving leadership to American society and in the forums of the world.

The Scouting America accomplishes this purpose by making its program available in partnership with existing groups having compatible goals, including religious, educational, civic, fraternal, labor, and governmental bodies. Troop 65 is sponsored by the 2nd Congregational Church of Coventry.

The Aims and Methods of the Scouting America Program

AIMS

The Scouting America program works toward three aims. One is growth in moral strength and character. We may define this as what the person is themselves: their personal qualities, their values, their outlook.

A second aim is participating citizenship. Used broadly, citizenship means the person's relationship to others. They come to learn of their obligations to other people, to the society they live in, to the government that presides over that society.

A third aim of the Scouting America program is development of physical, mental, and emotional fitness. Fitness includes the body (well tuned and healthy), the mind (able to think and solve problems), and the emotions (self-control, courage and self-respect).

METHODS

Ideals

The ideals of Scouting are spelled out in the Scout Oath, Law, motto and slogan. The Scout measures them self against these ideals and continually tries to improve. The goals are high, and as they reach for them they have some control over what they become.

Patrols

The patrol method gives Scouts an experience in group living and participating citizenship. It places a certain amount of responsibility on young shoulders and teaches Scouts how to accept it. The patrol method allows Scouts to act in small groups where they can easily relate to each other. These small groups determine troop activities through their elected representatives.

Outdoors

The Scouting America program is designed to take place outdoors. It is in the outdoors that Scouts share responsibilities and learn to live with each other. It is here that the skills and activities practiced at troop meetings come alive with purpose. Being close to nature helps Scouts gain an appreciation for God's handiwork and mankind's place in it. The outdoors is the laboratory for Scouts to learn ecology and practice conservation of nature's resources.

Advancement

Scouting provides a series of surmountable obstacles and steps to overcome through the advancement method. The Scout plans their advancement and progresses at their own pace as they overcome each challenge. The Scout is rewarded for each achievement, which helps them gain self-confidence. The steps in the advancement system help the Scout grow in self-reliance and the ability to help others.

Personal Growth

As Scouts plan their activity, and progress toward their goals, they experience personal growth. The Good Turn concept is a major part of the personal growth method of Scouting. Scouts grow as they participate in community service projects and do Good Turns for others. There probably is no device so successful in developing a basis for personal growth as the daily Good Turn. The religious emblems program is also a large part of the personal growth method. Frequent personal conferences with his Scoutmaster help each Scout to determine his growth toward Scouting's aims.

Leadership Development

The Scouting America program encourages Scouts to learn and practice leadership skills. Every Scout has the opportunity to participate in both shared and total leadership situations. Understanding the concepts of leadership helps them accept the leadership role of others and guide them toward the citizenship aim of Scouting.

Uniform

The uniform makes the Scout troop visible as a force for good and creates a positive youth image in the community. The Scouting America program is an action program, and wearing the uniform is an action that shows each Scout's commitment to the aims and purposes of Scouting. The uniform gives the Scout identity in a world union of youth who believe in the same ideals. The uniform is practical attire for Scout activities, and provides a way for Scouts to wear the badges that show what they have accomplished.

Welcome to Troop 65!

Our troop meets every Tuesday from 7:00 to 8:30, Check email for cancellations due to holidays and inclement weather. We meet at the 2nd Congregational Church on Route 44, Coventry, CT. We meet throughout the year and have an outdoor event (usually a weekend campout) at least once a month all year long, including winter. We also generally offer 2 weeks of summer camp each year.

At troop meetings each Scout is expected to wear a Scout uniform and bring their scout book. The Scout Handbook contains the official advancement record and when advancement work is done at meetings, each scout will need his book to have requirements signed off. They should also bring a pencil or pen and paper to write down changes in the calendar or other important information. It is all part of being prepared. Good behavior is expected at all scout events.

Included is our Troop calendar showing all our planned scouting events. It's a busy schedule but please don't fret. Everyone understands that we all have other commitments with family, school, church, sports, etc. and sometimes we have to pick and choose what we can do. By having this calendar now, hopefully you will be able to plan ahead and participate in lots of Troop events.

Scouting America is not just for youth. Adults can (and do) have just as much fun as the Scouts. Parents are welcome to register as a leader and attend our outings to see for themselves. By officially registering, you are covered by the Scouting America Insurance policy. If you have a talent or interest in a certain subject, you may want to register as a merit badge counselor. We are always looking for help with transportation or maybe you may have access to a cottage or campground or contacts at fun and exciting places. If you are interested in helping in any capacity, please see one of the Scout Leaders. History has shown that adults who become involved in Scouting have Scouts who get more involved and remain in the program longer. If it is important to you, it will be important to them.

There are some significant differences between Cub scouting and Scouting America which parents should understand. Cubs are run by adults and Scouting America troops are run by the youth. This concept can be difficult to grasp after many years of den meetings. The adult role in Scouting America is to lead from a distance and let them do as much as possible. It is incredible how much help adults want to provide vs. how much help they really need. Allowing them to fail in a controlled environment so they can learn to lead and grow in responsibility is the scout leader's role. We would appreciate your help in this goal. In Cubs, outdoor events require each scout to have a parent attend. Scouting America does not require this. As discussed above, parents are always welcomed and encouraged to register and attend any Troop event however, please don't limit your Scout's involvement to only to events you are able to make. It can be scary for a parent to send their child off on an event without them (especially on something like a ski trip) but we have an unblemished record of always bringing them back. Scouts who are not allowed to attend events that sound so exciting to them will soon lose interest and drop out. Scouting America is not for everybody, we simply ask that you allow them to participate and find out for themselves.

Troop 65 is organized in keeping with National SA policy which believes that Scouts get the maximum benefit from Scouting when they plan and lead Troop activities. One aspect of planning is how to cover the cost of the things they choose to do. Troop 65 believes that the responsibility to pay these costs lies with the scout and not the parent.

To this end, unlike other Troops that collect membership dues, we offer fund raising opportunities that Allow each scout to work and pay his way through the program.

This approach relieves parents of a financial burden, but more importantly, it instills in the scout the idea The scout has the ability and the responsibility to earn his way. Parents are asked to support these activities in two ways. First is to encourage your son to be involved in our fundraising. Secondly, volunteer to help provide adult supervision we need to run these events.

Most of the hundreds of dollars per year that each Scout will need can be earned by participating in our fundraising opportunities. The success of our fundraising program has allowed us to set the Scout price of most outdoor Troop events, including weekend ski trips and our annual Nantucket bike trip at the cost of food.

Our fundraising program is basically broken into four categories-

“Mandatory ticket sale” events – generally held once a year. Profits from this event help to cover SA annual registration and insurance costs for each scout. Any excess profits will offset the general operating costs and monthly activities of the Troop. Applebee’s Breakfast (usually held in late fall or early winter). See calendar for actual dates.

Coffee breaks - scheduled throughout the year on an as needed basis. Profits used towards the Troops general operating costs and monthly Troop activities.

The above two types of fundraisers require Scouts (as well as parents/adult leaders) to run these events. Fundraising shift participation is tracked and used to determine the cost of an activity per Scout.

Individual Scout Accounts (ISA) – there are some opportunities made available to Scouts to fund the costs of events that the Troop does not cover, such as summer camp. Currently we offer Scouts the ability to do cans and bottles. What is earned is split 75% to Scout and 25% to Troop.

Additional events – these are scheduled on an as-needed basis.

CALENDAR: Updated Troop65 calendar of events can be found on our website www.coventrytroop65.com

Uniform and Personal Gear Requirements

All Scouts are expected to wear the following uniform at all Troop meetings (during the school year), boards of review, courts of honor and any other official Scout function.

- Scouting America shirt with: Conn. Council Strip (same as Cub Scouts)
Troop Numbers (same as Cub Scouts)
Green Shoulder Loops
- Troop Neckerchief and Troop Hat
- Neckerchief Slide (Scout Slide or Home made – No twist ties or knots)
- Scouting America belt and Buckle (optional)
- Scouting America pants or shorts (optional)
- Scouting America socks (optional)

All parts of the uniform (except the neckerchief and hat) can be purchased at the following locations:

The Scout Shop
June Norcross Webster –email camp-webster@scouting.org
231 Ashford Center Rd,
Ashford, CT 06278
Hours
Thursday 5:00 – 8:00 PM
Saturday 10:00 – 4:00 PM

The following is a list of personal camping equipment that every Scout should have.

- Sleeping Bag – Preferably a three season bag
- Sleeping Pad – Dense foam pads work fine and are fairly inexpensive. The self – inflatable ones are better, but they can be costly.
- Backpack – The exterior frame type work well, preferably with padded shoulder and hip belts.
- Mess Kit – Plate, bowl, cup, knife, fork, spoon
- Canteen or water bottle
- Rain Gear – Poncho or Suit
- First Aid Kit – Can be assembled from items from home (See Scout Handbook)
- Flashlight or Head Lamp

You don't need all new gear to enjoy camping. Friends, relatives, tag sales, ebay and flea markets are a great source of equipment. Don't worry about tents, cooking gear, camp stoves, or lanterns as the Troop has an adequate supply of gear. If you are planning to buy a new backpack, you may want to wait until after a few campouts when your Scout may know what features he wants. If you have any questions or you aren't sure what type of equipment you want to get, just ask any of the Scout Leaders and they will help.
